Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.This work translates an early journal or account book, dated 1791, describing 62 years of activities on a farm in Dutchess County, New York. This book contains financial transactions from a 220 acre family farm in the Town of Hyde Park, Dutchess County, New York. The first entry is in 1791, and the last 1853. The book was discovered in 1920, during a restoration to the old Conklin homestead. The contents include farm product sales, employment of both farm workers and domestic help, a two year building project, details of a tailoring business, and payments for a son s education. The document contains hundreds of customer names, many the relatives of Uncle Johnny Conklin who established the farm in 1751. He and his wife Maria had 13 children, nine daughters and four sons. He was one of 10 siblings and most of his relatives are mentioned in the journal. His first son, John J Conklin starts the book in 1791 and when he dies in 1803, the journal is taken over by his younger brother, Abraham I...
